As interest in natural health continues to grow, so do the number of companies offering you their version of products. How do you decide? There are many good companies. Unfortunately, there is also a lot of junk and hype. From raw materials to finished goods, because of a true belief in "Quality, Service and Integrity", Nature's Sunshine Products ensures they are producing best products money can buy. Products that can be trusted to be true to their labelling and will bring real results when you use them.

Important Deciding Factors:

- Quality - The Quality Assurance Department at Nature's Sunshine rigorously tests all raw materials and finished products using hundreds of methods to measure quality and purity. So, when anyone uses NSP supplements they can find comfort knowing they are not filled with dirt, adulterated with cheaper material, contaminated with molds, or less potent than what is listed on the label. Nature Sunshine has spent over 45 years and many millions of dollars in the pursuit of maintaining their ultra-high-quality standards. This includes multiple upgrades and expansions of manufacturing facility, purchasing new equipment and investing in new technology, hiring qualified scientific personnel and much more.
- Research - Nature Sunshine Products Research & Development teams build quality into product formulation from the beginning & instill their expertise in knowing how much of which ingredients to put into a formula.

Achievements:

- In 2013, Forbes named NSP in their "100 Most Trusted Companies".
- In 2002, Nutritional Outlook magazine named Nature's Sunshine Manufacturer of the Year for its outstanding quality and manufacturing excellence.
- NSF International, a non-profit, non-governmental organization and world leader in standards development and product certification, presented Nature's Sunshine with the NSF Good Manufacturing Certification. NSF is a leading, third-party auditor of companies involved in the health and public safety sectors.
